LEARNING DISABILITY ALLIANCE SCOTLAND ACCESSIBILITY SURVEY 2018

What is the LDAS survey?

It is questions about something that is important to people with learning disabilities in Scotland.

People with learning disabilities pick what the survey is about in a special vote at the LDAS Big Meeting.

This year the survey is about 'accessibility.'

What does 'Accessibility' mean?

It means things are made easy for people with disabilities to use, see and understand.

Access for disabled people is important because it helps to make things more equal.

It also helps disabled people to make their own choices and take part in more things.

What things should be accessible?

Places should be accessible like streets, buildings and public facilities.

Transport should be accessible.

Information and technology should be accessible.

Public services should be accessible.
